RECITALS

1. ARB alleges that from December 2007 to June 2011, Cedar Fresh Home Products LLC sold, supplied, and offered for sale in California a product named Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar Essence and Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar and Lavender Essence that subject to the volatile organic compound (VOC) limit for "Air Freshener" category, title 17, California Code of Regulations (CCR), section 94509(a).

2. ARB alleges that after Household purchased the assets of Cedar Fresh Home Products LLC, Household sold, supplied, and offered for sale in California Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar Essence and Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar and Lavender Essence from July 2011 to October 2011 that was subject to the VOC limit for "Air Freshener" category, title 17, California Code of Regulations (CCR), section 94509(a).

3. ARB alleges that Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar Essence and Cedar Power Spray - Real Cedar and Lavender Essence referenced in recital paragraphs 1 and 2 contained concentrations of VOCs exceeding the 18 percent VOC limit for the "Air Freshener – liquid/pump spray" specified in title 17, CCR, section 94509(a).

4. ARB alleges that if the allegations described in recital paragraphs 1, 2, and 3 were proven, civil penalties could be imposed against Household as provided in Health and Safety Code sections 42402, et seq. for each and every unit involved in the violations.

5. Household admits the allegations described in recital paragraphs 2 and 3, but denies any liability resulting from said allegations.

6. The parties agree to resolve this matter completely by means of this Agreement, without the need for formal litigation.

Therefore, the parties agree as follows:

8. Each of the undersigned represents and warrants that he or she has full power and authority to enter into this Agreement.

9. SB 1402 Statement. California Health and Safety Code (HSC) section 39619.7 (Senate Bill 1402 - Dutton, Chapter 413, statutes of 2010) requires ARB to provide information on the basis for the penalties it seeks. This Settlement Agreement includes this information, which is also summarized here.

The provision of law the penalty is being assessed under and why that provision is most appropriate for that violation.

The penalty provision being applied in this case is HSC section 42402, et seq. because Household sold, supplied, offered for sale, or manufactured for sale consumer products for commerce in California in violation of the Consumer Products Regulations (Title 17 California Code of Regulations (CCR) section 94507, et seq.). The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to violations of the Consumer Products Regulations because the regulations were adopted under authority of HSC section 41712 which is in Part 4 of Division 26 of the Health and Safety Code. The penalty provisions of HSC section 42402, et seq. apply to requirements adopted pursuant to Part 4.

The manner in which the penalty amount was determined, including aggravating and mitigating factors and per unit or per vehicle basis for the penalty.

Penalties must be set at levels sufficient to discourage violations. ARB considered all relevant circumstances in determining penalties, including the eight factors specified in HSC section 42403.

Under HSC section 42402, et seq. the penalties for strict liability violations of the Consumer Product Regulations are a maximum of $1,000 per day of violation, with each day being a separate violation. In cases like this involving unintentional first time violations of the Consumer Products Regulations, ARB has sought and obtained penalties of approximately $17,000 per ton of excess emissions of VOCs attributable to the violation. This represents an average cost to retire a ton of VOC emission credits and reformulate a product to comply with the Consumer Product Regulations. However, in similar cases with extremely small amounts of excess emissions, ARB has historically obtained penalties that reflect that the violations occurred on at least three days (the day the product was purchased by ARB, the day it was supplied to the retailer, and the day it was manufactured for sale) and that the penalty exceeds the cost of investigating the violation. In this case the total penalty is $3,000.

Is the penalty being assessed under a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollution at a specified level, and, if so a quantification of the excess emissions, if it is practicable to do so.

The Consumer Product Regulations do not prohibit emissions above a specific level, but they do limit the concentration of VOCs in regulated products. In this case a quantification of the excess emissions attributable to the violations was practicable because Household made the product formulation and sales data necessary to make this quantification available to the ARB. Based upon this information (which Household has designated as confidential), the violations were calculated to have caused the 0.19 tons of excess emissions of VOCs to be emitted to the atmosphere in California. Approximately 0.12 tons were attributed to sales by the previous owner, Cedar Fresh Home Products, LLC prior to July of 2011.

10. Household acknowledges that ARB has complied with SB1402 in investigating and settling this case. Specifically, ARB has considered all relevant facts, including those listed at HSC section 42403, has explained the manner in which the penalty amount was calculated, has identified the provision of law under which the penalty amount is being assessed and had considered and determined that while this penalty is not being assessed a provision of law that prohibits the emission of pollutants at a specified level, it is practicable for ARB to quantify the excess emissions from the alleged violations, has done so and has included this information in this Settlement Agreement.

11. Final penalties were determined based on the unique circumstances of this matter, considered together with the need to remove any economic benefit from noncompliance, the goal of deterring future violations and obtaining swift compliance, the consideration of past penalties in similar negotiated cases, and the potential costs and risk associated with litigating these particular violations. The penalty reflects violations extending over a number of days resulting in quantifiable harm to the environment considered together with the complete circumstances of this case listed above. The penalty was discounted in this matter based on the factors described. Penalties in future cases might be smaller or larger on a per ton basis.

12. The final penalty in this case was based in part on confidential business information provided by Household that is not retained by ARB in the ordinary course of business. The penalty in this case was also based on confidential settlement communications between ARB and Household that ARB does not retain in the ordinary course of business either. The penalty also, reflects ARB's assessment of the relative strength of its case against Household, the desire to avoid the uncertainty, burden and expense of litigation, obtain swift compliance with the law and remove any unfair advantage that Household may have secured from its actions.
