Subject: capandtrade2012
Comment:

The Industry Benchmark for the Gypsum Product Manufacturing Industry should be Revised from a Weight-Based Metric to a Production-Based Metric

When cap and trade regulations were established by the California Air Resources Board (CARB), the Gypsum Product Manufacturing (GPM) industry agreed to use a benchmark of metric tons CO₂e per short ton of stucco used to produce wallboard. This permitted the CARB benchmark for gypsum board to be normalized with the EU ETS benchmark for plasterboard.

In the interim period since the establishment of the regulations, GPM industry manufacturers have modified formulations for some commodity products. The re-formulation process has resulted in the production of gypsum board materials that are characterized by a lighter average product weight than those produced a few years earlier. This trend in weight reduction is on-going and points toward a composite gypsum board product weight metric that will continue to decline on an annual basis for the foreseeable future.

The Gypsum Association believes the downward trend in product weight has created a scenario that will not allow the industry to take advantage of improvements in energy utilization. While formulation changes have permitted the GPM industry some reductions in energy consumption, the rate of energy consumption decrease has not kept pace with, and likely will not keep pace with, the rate of decrease in product weight.

The denominator in the product-based metric for gypsum board is weight-based. Conceptually, if product weight is continually decreased and energy usage does not decrease at a proportionate rate, members of the GPM industry may not be able to meet target CO₂e allocations regardless of energy usage.

California is currently revising cap and trade regulations to harmonize its system with the cap and trade system that is being assembled by the Province of Quebec. Quebec has adopted a production-based metric for the GPM industry. In keeping with the goal to harmonize these two cap and trade systems, CARB should adopt industry benchmarks that are comparable wherever possible.

We propose that CARB work with the GPM industry through the Gypsum Association to solicit and establish a new production-based emissions benchmark for gypsum board production. The units of this benchmark should not be in terms of metric tons of stucco, but should reflect a production-based metric, such as CO2e produced per a normalized unit or volume of board footage. The GPM industry is conducting an internal data review and intends to have a proposed metric available for presentation to CARB for review and discussion in the very near future. As with the Industry Assistance Factor, the Gypsum Association would appreciate being included in the stakeholder process to evaluate industry benchmarks in 2012.

Subject: Comments on May 9, 2012 Notice of Amendments to Cap-and-Trade Regulation
Comment:

Wellhead Electric Company, Inc. submits these comments to address the deletion of the Beneficial Holding Relationship provision (Section 95834) and the need for CARB to continue to evaluate and prepare for resolution of the issues faced by a very limited class of generators with pre-AB 32 contracts that have no available mechanism for recovery of AB 32 compliance costs. Wellhead suggests two regulatory amendments that will provide the CPUC and the CARB flexibility needed to address the matter should bilateral negotiations be unsuccessful. First, the CPUC should have the flexibility to not only create rules for revenue allocation, but also be able to adjust the disposition of allowances to utilities within its jurisdiction under a very limited set of circumstances. Second, CARB should enable the CARB Executive Director to adjust allowance allocations when an allocation to a utility fails to comport with Board intent and policy.
