

HAAGEN-SMIT
CLEAN AIR AWARDS

Clean Air Leadership Talks

Wednesday, February 20, 2019, 2 p.m. – 4 p.m.

CalEPA Headquarters, Byron Sher Auditorium
1001 I Street, Sacramento, California

More information: 916-322-3893, arb.ca.gov/hsawards

Webcast: video.calepa.ca.gov

Learn about real-world air pollution problems and innovative solutions from individuals who will be bestowed with California's premier air quality award – the Haagen-Smit Clean Air Award – for their career contributions.

Five Decades of Air Quality Studies in Central California

*John Watson, Ph.D.,
Research Professor at Desert
Research Institute*

Clean Air - Healthy World: Building Tomorrow's Achievement on Our Successes of the Last Fifty Years

*Barry Wallerstein, D.Env.,
Senior Policy Fellow at School of Public Policy, UC Riverside*

Getting to Zero: A Strategy to Drive Emissions Down Rapidly and Effectively

Hal Harvey, CEO of Energy Innovations

2018 recipients not presenting:

- Paul Crutzen, Ph.D., Germany's Max Planck Institute for Chemistry
- Anne Douglass, Ph.D., National Aeronautics Space Administration

The Haagen-Smit Clean Air Award is named for the late Dr. Arie Haagen-Smit – known as the father of air pollution control. Awards recognize those who embody Haagen-Smit's legacy through their contributions to research, environmental policy, science and technology, public education, and community service.

